STEEL ARRIVES

J. DECKER, OF VINCENTS BRIDGE COMPANY, HERE.

Will Begin Work on Clark's Bridge On Benton Road Immediately.

Steel for the county bridge over Clark's river on the Benton road has arrived, and J. Decker, an official of the Vincennes Bridge company, is now in the city making arrangements for the erection of the bridge. Contracts for gravel and sand and material will be let this week, and next week it is intended to begin the active construction, and push it to completion.

STOMACH TROUBLE CURED.

To anyone suffering with stomach trouble, I will say I was afflicted with it for fifteen years. I got in such condition I had to quit work. I tried Hays' Specific, found relief and went back to work and now hold my former position. I can conscientiously recommend it for stomach trouble. March 15, 1909. L. F. FIGHTING TUBERCULOSIS.

Louisville, Ky., Sept. 3.—The Anti-Tuberculosis conference which has been under consideration for several weeks, and which has been planned by the Anti-Tuberculosis associations now in operation at Henderson, Frankfort, Latonia, Lexington, Louisville and Owensboro, will mark the greatest forward step yet taken in the movement against tuberculosis in Kentucky. This conference will be held in Lexington on September 29.

A call has been issued to the mayor of every city in the state, requesting his presence and the appointment of one other delegate from each city. These delegates together with a number of distinguished visitors will meet in Lexington September 29 and 30 for the purpose of forming a state organization to combat consumption in Kentucky. The headquarters of the conference will be held at the Phoenix hotel in Lexington and such an active association will be formed as can begin at once the work which is so greatly needed throughout the state.

The call which has just been issued is signed by: Augustus E. Wilson, Frankfort, Ky.; Mrs. James A. Leech, president Kentucky Federation of Women's clubs; C. L. Adler, chairman Louisville Anti-Tuberculosis association; Dr. J. N. McCormick, secretary state board of health; Mrs. Desha Breckenridge, Lexington; John Marshall, Louisville; James B. Rankin, president Henderson Anti-Tuberculosis association; Mrs. B. L. Banks, Richmond; Mrs. George L. Walden, Danville; Dr. Jos. Martyn Cynthiana; Bernard Flexner, Louisville; Mrs. W. C. Morton, Madisonville; Mrs. J. D. Hays, Owensboro; L. J. Dittmar, Louisville; Mrs. Chas. P. Weaver, Louisville; Dr. George P. Sprague, president Lexington Anti-Tuberculosis association; Rev. M. B. Adams, president Frankfort Anti-Tuberculosis association; W. C. Nones, Louisville; James F. Grinstead, Louisville; Mrs. L. E. Carlton, president Latonia Anti-Tuberculosis association; Dr. R. J. Tilton, Carlisle; E. T. Frank, president Owensboro Anti-Tuberculosis association; Thomas Johnson, Lexington; Miss L. H. Simms, Paris; Mrs. J. D. Middleton, Shelbyville, Ky.; Dr. J. W. Kincaid, Catlettsburg; Mrs. Charles E. Dallam, Henderson; Miss Rebecca Averill, Frankfort, Ky.

Mrs. Asher Richardson, of Ashertown, Tex., has been appointed assistant general superintendent of the Ashertown and Gulf railroad. Thirty-two miles of the road has been completed, and it is now being extended sixty miles more. Mrs. Richardson has charge of the employment and work of a large body of men.

GERMAN SONDER BOAT WON RACE

YACHT HEVELLA FIRST AND MARGARETHE SECOND.

Winners of Last Three Races to Compete—American Boats Have Won Two.

TAFT CUP RACE ON MONDAY

Marblehead, Mass., Sept. 3.—In the third international sonder class race, the German challengers scored a victory, the Hevelia first, completing the triangular course of 7 1/2 miles twice sailed. Margarethe, second; Seebund 11, the other German competitor, fourth. The Wolf, was the first American yacht to finish. She was third, but badly beaten by both the Hevelia and Margarethe. The Ellen and Joyette finished last.

The result was popular, because the Germans had taken two severe beatings this week without a whimper. The victorious Hevelia was saluted on every side.

The Americans have now won two races and the Germans one. Only the winner of tomorrow's race and of the three races already held can fight it out for the Taft cup Monday. The victor in Monday's encounter will take the Taft trophy, irrespective of whether she won two races or one previously. The winner of the Taft cup will not be eligible for the Draper cup race.

The Hevelia won today through the superior judgment of Captain Protzen and the better qualities of his boat in light air. Up to almost the last minute the Margarethe seemed likely to win. Heating out to windward, the Margarethe led the rivals around the turn in both rounds, but on the broad reach to the finish in the lightening breeze the Hevelia slipped along fast and snatched the victory. The elapsed time was 3:09:56.

TWO COMMITTEES

SENATOR TOM COMBS SAYS THEY ARE DISTINCT.

Permanent Headquarters at Lexington Still in Hands of Beckminites.

Lexington, Ky., Sept. 3.—When seen Thursday in regard to the statement that he had been deposed and the headquarters would be removed from Lexington to Louisville, Senator Thomas A. Combs explained that the newspapers had evidently gotten the campaign committee and the permanent headquarters committee confused.

"I introduced the resolution adopted at the Louisville meeting," said Senator Combs, "and I ought to know something about its provisions. The permanent headquarters committee and the campaign committee are two distinct and separate organizations. The latter will establish headquarters in Louisville with Ben Johnson as secretary, but the permanent headquarters committee, which was created for another purpose, will remain in Lexington undisturbed. Its function is different from that of the campaign committee and it will have charge of the matters with which the campaign committee has nothing to do."

Senator Combs stated that a secretary for the permanent headquarters committee here had not yet been selected and he could not say when one would be chosen.

Kid Carter Dying.
New York, Sept. 3.—Kid Carter, once a noted prize fighter, whose bouts with heavy weights attracted national attention, is reported to be dying in a city hospital here from consumption. Among the men whom he met in the prize ring were Tommy Ryan, Jack Root, George Gardner, Joe Choyzicki, Kid McCoy, Marvin Hart, Sam McVey, Peter Maher, Jack O'Brien and Gus Rubin.

Against Anti-Tobacco Party.
Chicago, Sept. 3.—The National Tobacco Trades association which was formed here today, purpose a cross-campaign against the anti-tobacco activity. In educating the consumer, the association will work through the retailer and endeavor to enlist physicians and scientists. Edward C. Berriman, of Chicago, was chosen president.

Nervous Collapse

"I have traveled for thirty years continually. I lost a great deal of sleep, which together with constant worry left me in such a nervous state that finally, after having two collapses of nervous prostration, I was obliged to give up traveling altogether. I doctored continually but with no relief. Dr. Miles' Nerve came to my rescue—I cannot describe the suffering which this Nerve saved me. Whenever I am particularly nervous a few doses relieve me."

A. G. C. LIBBY, Wells, Me.

There are many nervous wrecks. There is nervous prostration of the stomach, of the bowels, and other organs. The brain, the kidneys, the liver, the nerve centers are all exhausted. There is but one thing to do—build up the nervous system by the use of Dr. Miles' Restorative Nerve. Its strengthening influence upon the nervous system restores normal action to the organs, and when they all work in harmony, health is assured. Get a bottle from your druggist. Take it all according to directions, and if it does not benefit he will return your money.

RELEASED UPON THEIR OWN RECOGNIZANCE

Clarksville, Tenn., Sept. 3.—Quite a stir was caused here yesterday over the release of Lou Adkins, J. A. Randall and George Adams, who have been in jail on the charge of being connected with the Hunter murder. Adkins was one of the defendants and during the trial the indictment charging him with being an accessory was dismissed and he was held, charged with being an accessory before and after the murder. Randall is a constable, who deeded having made certain statements to Judge Tyler in connection with the case. He was jailed at the time for perjury. The men were released upon their own recognizance.

ABSOLUTE CURE OF SKIN ERUPTION

Broke Out on Hips and Legs—Was So Sore, Irritating and Painful that Little Sufferer Could Not Sleep—Scratched Constantly and Kept Growing Worse.

CUTICURA'S EFFECT QUICK AND PERMANENT

"When about two and a half years old my daughter broke out on her hips and the upper parts of her legs with a very irritating and painful eruption. It began in October; the first I noticed was a little red surface and a constant desire on her part to scratch her limbs. She could not sleep and the eruptions got sore, and yellow water came out of them. I had her treated by her doctor, but she grew worse under their treatment. Then I bought the Cuticura Soap, Cuticura Ointment and Cuticura Resolvent, and only used them two weeks when she was entirely well. This was in February. She has never had another rough place on her skin, and she is now fourteen years old. I used only half the bottle of Cuticura Resolvent and less than a box of Cuticura Ointment. Mrs. J. K. Whitaker, Winchester, Tenn., Sept. 22, 1908."

AEROPLANE HATS

WILL BE WORN BY THE LADIES THIS FALL.

New Creation Will Succeed Peach Basket Hats in Fashion's Realm Hereafter.

Chicago, Sept. 3.—The National Association of Retail Milliners assembled at the Fine Arts building last night, launched the aeroplane as the new style of headgear, put a ban on the peach basket hat and desired the three-cornered hat of the Louis XVI. days as the stiffest banner for the coming winter months. The new creation in millinery art resembles an aeroplane in shape, having two long feathers at either end and a curved rim. Its dimensions are twenty by eighteen inches, and because of the light trimmings it weighs considerably less than one pound.

JOHN ROBINSON'S SHOWS

The Oldest Aggregation in Country and Up-to-date.

The present is an unimaginative day and generations on the whole, and it needs the periodical stimulation that the sight of strange, unusual animals and aborigines affords. Rich people can travel, but the circus represents the foreign travel of the poor. It brings to their very doors the things they have read about in newspapers or books. In this year particularly, when millions are following with interest the adventures of a mighty jungle hunter, there is widespread reawakened enthusiasm for wild animals known and unknown—an interest of which the circus man is sure to reap the golden advantage September 11.

John Robinson's coming will please every one with his program. The performance opens with a grand tournament around the hippodrome track, which encloses the three rings and elevated stage, followed by double bare-back acts in which at least 20 lady equestrians take part, a score of acrobats in wonderful feats in mid air, male equestrians on bare-back steeds, jugglers, equilibrists, performing elephants in marvellous feats, dancing and doing the "snake walk" with precision of time to the music, trained horses dancing and prancing to the delight of the spectators. U. S. cavalrymen in elaborate feats of horsemanship, cowboys in various feats of frontier life, and Indians exhibiting the customs of the various tribes.

While every act presented is of a thrilling and sensational nature, particular mention should be made of the wonderful seals and sea lions. These aquatic creatures of the lower deep go through performances which seem to the human mind almost incredible. They are the only water animals that have ever been trained to ride horseback. While on the back of steeds they perform a series of feats that are wonderful to behold. They play ball, juggle brands of fire with their flukes, balance objects and endeavor to play musical instruments. Another feature is the herculean strength exhibited by Warren Travis, showing what mighty power of endurance is rolled up in the human frame. The bareback riding of the Costello is marvellous and the riding, driving and manhandling of six bareback horses by Gordon Tilton, an exhibition of skill and daring never before witnessed by our people. Any one of the above features is alone well worth the price of admission.

A commendable practice of the Robinson management is that every article of food for the vast army of employees, and provender for the stock and animals, hay, oats and straw, is purchased from the local merchants in each town when the show exhibits.

Cross-ties.
Last year $66,000,000 was spent by the railroads of the United States for cross-ties. The average price of ties was 60 cents. Forty-three per cent. of the ties were of oak and 19 per cent. of yellow pine. Owing to the growing scarcity of suitable timber, other woods are being used after treatment with various preservatives, and it has been found that these treated woods outlast the more expensive untreated oak ties.

E. H. HARRIMAN GETS BUSY AGAIN IN REALTY LINE

New York, Sept. 3.—E. H. Harriman has purchased the historic Tappan farm at Central Valley, thus beginning the campaign by which it is said he expects to extend his realty holdings for twenty miles around his already vast estate at Arden. Mr. Harriman is said to have paid $20,000 for the Taylor place. It was on the market for half this amount before Mr. Harriman located at Arden.

Mrs. Forbes Sued.
Bridgeport, Conn., Sept. 3.—Mrs. A. H. Forbes, wife of the noted rector, was today made defendant in a suit for $75,000 damages brought by Mrs. Ernest Hawley, of New York, wife of Forbes' chauffeur. Allegations of infidelity are charged against Mrs. Forbes.

Many a seemingly successful man owes it all to his wife's father.

EXTRAORDINARY HAIR TONIC It Won't Grow Hair on Bald Heads Say the Makers.

Unlike all other hair restorers, Parisian Sage won't grow hair on bald heads. Neither will it grow hair on china eggs, door knobs or litching posts.

One claim is about as sensible as the other.

If your head is bald and you want to cover it with hair, get a wig.

Parisian Sage, the quick-acting hair restorer, is of no use to bald headed people, but for people who have thin hair, falling hair and dandruff, and where the bald spot is just beginning to show, there is nothing in this wide world that will give such satisfactory results as Parisian Sage.

Most diseases of the hair and scalp are caused by a microbe commonly called a dandruff germ. (Dr. Saboraud, of Paris, has proven this.)

To banish dandruff, stop falling hair and prevent baldness, the microbe must be killed.

Parisian Sage, which can now be obtained at leading druggists, is the only remedy that is absolutely certain to kill the dandruff germ.

Parisian Sage is guaranteed by Gilbert's drug store to drive out dandruff and stop falling hair in two weeks, or money back. It stops itching scalp in two days, and keeps the scalp cool and free from odors in warm weather.

Parisian Sage is particularly in demand by women who desire fascinating hair.

There is nothing on earth that will so quickly turn dull, faded hair into lustrous and luxuriant hair as Parisian Sage.

Try a bottle of Parisian Sage at W. J. Gilbert's risk. Use it for a week, and you will have no use for the ordinary tonics. Parisian Sage is delightfully perfumed, free from grease and stickiness, and a large bottle costs but 50 cents. The girl with the Auburn hair is on every bottle. Made in America by Groux Mfg. Co., Buffalo, N. Y.

CURTISS GOES TO BRESCIA

HE WILL TRY FOR THE GRAND PRIZE.

American Aviator and U. S. Bishop, President of American Aero Club, Were Guests at Dinner.

ENTERS THE CONTESTS THERE

Paris, Sept. 3.—Glenn H. Curtiss has decided to take part in the flying machine races to be held at Brescia, Italy, beginning September 5. He will leave here Friday with C. F. Bishop, president of the American Aero club. He will try for the grand prize, the distance of which has been reduced from 62 to 31 miles.

Mr. Bishop said that Curtiss had signed no contracts for flights in America.

Mr. Bishop, Mr. Curtiss and Edgar W. Mils, of Columbia, D., made a successful balloon trip of 48 miles. They came down in the department of Yonne.

Ambassador and Mrs. Henry White gave a dinner at the embassy last night in honor of Glenn H. Curtiss, the American aviator, who won the international cup and speed contest at Rheims. The other guests included Carlandt E. Bishop, president of the Aero club of America, and Mrs. Bishop; Ambassador Rockhill and Miss Cannon.

Mr. Curtiss was most delighted with his balloon trip which was his first experience in that type of craft, and he took the opportunity of studying the air currents by dropping pieces of paper and watching the way they were affected.

Mr. Bishop points that the Gordon Bennett trophy is a challenge cup for which entries do not have to be made before March, 1910, and that it is therefore premature to say what are the prospects for next year.

He understands, however, that at present the French aviators are not inclined to make the long and expensive trip to the United States and that it is doubtful if there will be any race in 1910.

Eight More Barns Burned.
Evansville, Ind., Sept. 3.—The incendiary who has been starting a number of fires in this city continued his work last night, and eight more barns went up in smoke. This makes 27 barns destroyed by fire during the last week, and all have been of mysterious origin. In addition to the eight barns burned last night two residences were also damaged.

Brazilian exports in the first three months of 1909 totalled a value of $79,702,000, an increase of $24,300,000 over the same months of 1908. Coffee and rubber enjoyed 90 per cent. of the increase. Imports decreased 14.45 per cent.

CLEAN BILL WITH HITCHCOCK.

All Indictments Against Comedian Are Dismissed.

New York, Sept. 3.—Raymond Hitchcock the comedian, was given a clean bill on the criminal court records, when the court of general sessions dismissed the remaining four indictments charging misconduct.

On the fifth of these indictments the actor was tried and acquitted by a jury June 10, 1908. When his attorney applied for the dismissal of the remaining indictments Assistant District Attorney Garvin, who tried the case against Hitchcock, offered no opposition, and told the court that he was sure he would be unable to obtain sufficient evidence to warrant a conviction.

Dinner for Curtiss.

Paris, Sept. 3.—Ambassador White gave a dinner at the embassy in honor of Curtiss the American aviator, who won the international cup and speed contest at Rheims. The guests included President Bishop, of the American Aero club, Ambassador Rockhill, Mrs. Rockhill and Miss Cannon.

"Do you ever really enjoy your work?" "Well, yes. For two or three days after coming back from vacation."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

IT WORKS

The Laborer Eats Food That Would Wreck an Office Man.

Men who are actively engaged at hard work can sometimes eat food that would wreck a man who is more closely confined.

This is illustrated in the following story: "I was for 12 years clerk in a store working nervously and drank coffee all the time without much trouble until after I entered the telegraph service.

"There I got very little exercise and drinking strong coffee, my nerves grew untended and my stomach got weak and I was soon a very sick man. I quit meat and tobacco and in fact I stopped eating everything which I thought might affect me except coffee, but still my condition grew worse and I was all but a wreck.

"I finally quit coffee and commenced to use Postum a few years ago and I am speaking the truth when I say, my condition commenced to improve immediately and today I am well and can eat anything I want without any bad effects, all due to shifting from coffee to Postum.

"I told my wife today I believed I could digest a brick if I had a cup of Postum to go with it.

"We make it according to directions boiling it full 20 minutes and use good rich cream and it is certainly delicious."

Census Director Asks Farmers For Advice About Crop and Farm Report

Washington, Sept. 3.—The farmers of the United States are naturally very much interested in the census of agriculture and farms that will be taken April 15, 1910, as one of the subjects to be covered by the thirtieth decennial census. Many are showing their interest by writing to the census bureau for the purpose of making comments upon census information regarding agriculture as presented in the past. The director of the census welcomes all such suggestions and gives them careful consideration, as he is anxious to have the results of the coming census correspond as nearly as may be to the desires of the people most interested.

In addition to studying carefully these suggestions, the director has on his own initiative requested certain professors of economics and agriculture of the more important universities of the country, and other persons who have specialized in agricultural matters, to come to Washington for a short time for the purpose of studying carefully and criticizing plans now under way. Especially is it desired to obtain their opinion relative to the questions to be asked and their form, as the results to be obtained will so largely depend upon the character of the schedule and the manner in which the questions are propounded. These suggestions, coming from outside experts, are proving to be of great value, and it is believed that in consequence of this preliminary study more valuable and accurate data will be obtained than could otherwise be secured. After these special students and experts have made their preliminary studies, formal conferences are held in the office in which the whole matter of the character of the schedules and the best methods of securing the information are thoroughly gone over.

The department is also seeking to secure the advice and co-operation, as far as possible, of the officers and experts of the department of agriculture, of the state agricultural colleges, farmers' societies and like organizations.

ARREST THREE MEN

FOR SELLING TOBACCO ON WHICH MONEY WAS ADVANCED.

All Have Executed Bond—One of the Accused Said to Be Eighty-One Years Old.

Hopkinsville, Ky., Sept. 3.—G. W. and J. W. Connerly and Will T. Majors were arrested in the southern part of this county this week by Sheriff Staton, of Clarksville, and Deputy Sheriff Edgar Renshaw, of this place, the charge against them being selling pledged tobacco.

The Tennessee officer came armed with regulations for the men he wanted.

While the charge is selling pledged tobacco the offense is not the same as is generally understood in Kentucky, when the Crockett law is violated. The accused are alleged to have secured advances on their tobacco from a warehouse and then sold the tobacco to other dealers. Majors arranged his case satisfactorily and was released from custody. The other two were taken back to Clarksville. One of the Connerly's is said to be 81 years old. Both executed bond and returned to their homes.—New Era.

HE IS DYING

THE REV. W. L. BUTLER, OF MORGANFIELD.

Well Known in Purchase County—He Is Totally Paralyzed at the Present Time.

Mayfield, Ky., Sept. 3.—Information has reached here through the Rev. H. A. Macdonald in a letter to Major H. S. Hale, of the dying condition of the Rev. W. L. Butler, of Morganfield, Ky. He writes: "Dear Bro. Hale:—His right side is totally paralyzed, and his powers of mind and speech shattered. He will never cross his door steps again until he is carried to the city of the dead. He cannot linger long the doctor says. He has a wife and six children dependent now on the ministrations of God's people. In such a time I feel bold in appealing to men like yourself. I need not tell you that Bro. Butler is wholly worthy, a gentler sweeter heart is seldom known. Differing from you and me in some minor matters yet he holds us all in his heart and not one word of criticism ever falls from his lips regarding those who differed from him in such matters."

The Rev. Mr. Butler, it will be remembered came from North Carolina to this country in 1878. It was in 1880 that C. J. Kimbrell and himself established the Apostolic church, a religious paper devoted to the interest of the Christian church of Kentucky, at Mayfield. This paper was ably edited and became very popular throughout the country and at the time of removal from Mayfield to Louisville in 1884, it has 1,500 subscribers.

The Rev. Mr. Butler is well known in Graves, Calloway, Marshall and McCracken counties, and his brotherhood throughout these counties will be sorry to learn of his condition physically and financially.

He has been married twice; the first time to a Miss Stone, of Mayfield, Ky., the six children are the result of his last marriage.—Messenger.

Wheat.
Wheat is a plant, and whoever is at all conversant with the machinery of speculation knows what a plant is. There are many kinds of plants, variously successful in catching suckers but what is about as sure as any to land the game. Contrary to what you sometimes hear wheat doesn't exhaust the soil. At all events, these United States have cropped and cropped with no seeming diminution of the harvest. Wheat may be planted any time, there being a delivery every month. When wheat has served the main purpose for which it is planted it is by no means thrown away, but goes to feed the world.—Puck.

The world is filled with would-be leaders who couldn't even follow successfully.

Daily Thought.

The child who gives all gives more than the richest who gives only a part.

The Louisville Times says Democracy is an instinct.

Life is made more burdensome by the people who "put on" and "put off."

We would like to know if Santa Claus wasn't there to corroborate everything Dr. Cook says?

May we expect President Taft to change his itinerary so as to include the new possessions about the north pole?

The Minnesota man, who murdered his lawyer, before committing suicide, solved Hamlet's difficulty by taking counsel with him.

The report that mussel fishermen have filed a strong remonstrance with the war department against the location of one of the piers of the railroad bridge in a mussel bed below Metropolis, is declared to be unfounded.

Harriman's illness, according to his sister, is indignation, which again shows the sympathetic relationship existing between the "wizard" and the "street." The stock market suffers from the effect of "undigested securities."

IN THE FIRST DISTRICT.

The Mayfield Messenger is authority for the statement that Jake Corbett, of Wickliffe, will oppose Ollie James for the Democratic congressional nomination in the First district next time. It is an ill kept secret that several Democratic politicians west of the river are growing restless as Ollie settles back more and more luxuriously in his easy chair. The First district majority is comfortably large, and the big congressman finds his honors pleasant and national recognition in the minority party easily attained and held. The state is not so certain, as the party affiliations of the officials at Frankfort and half the Kentucky representation in the upper house of congress attest, and the longer a man lingers in an easy position, the less prepared he becomes for a struggle and the less eagerly he regards the excitement of fierce activities.

Majorities like that of the First congressional district do not equip men for missionary work. Our Ollie is more at home at a burlesque feast like that at Louisville this week, where all within hearing are friendly, than he is on the stump in a close contest, trying to win over the opposition by the strength of his reasoning and the logic of his appeal. A man like Wilson, who went into Democratic straits with his appeal and convinced his hearers by his personality and fairness, would make a First district bred politician look like a vaudeville performer before anything like an evenly divided crowd.

Ollie James never won a Republican vote. He never tried. He never bad to, and he knows it. By long practice he has developed a style of oratory and a method of appeal especially adapted to arousing party spirit; but the same thing that arouses the enthusiasm of his fellow partisans, antagonizes the opposing party, and we doubt whether Ollie James' genial personality in private and ability as raconteur on the stump would avail to counteract the detraction of partisanship of his speeches.

Even in this Gibraltar district, there is an ever growing independent vote, intelligent, discriminating and unafraid. Local politicians in every country know it and are beginning to dread it. In more favorable atmospheres than this the independent spirit is even more thrifty. It looks quite through the deeds and words of politicians. Funny stories and spiteful accusations against opposing parties may make these independent American citizens smile at the odd conceits; but they vote seriously.

Rallies, that appeal to Democrats as Democrats and Republicans as Republicans, no longer affect sensible people. Such methods reached their climax in the Tippecanoe campaign of William Henry Harrison, when a log cabin and hard cider parade fifteen miles long ended its way across the state of Ohio. Nowadays men read more and think more, and cheer less. They will be reading and thinking when their burgoos is digested and forgotten.

Ollie James knows this, and he doesn't propose to be pushed out of his seat. As long as the aspirants for his seat are sufficiently numerous west of the river, he can keep the purchase divided and dominate the situation. He is popular with his people and in a primary probably could win by an immense majority over most any opponent; but the moment his strength wanes, he has plenty of friends ready to stab him even as Brutus did Caesar, for their country's sake.

The Nashville American says former Congressman T. W. Sims, of the Eighth district, is a probable candidate for Frezier's seat in the United States senate. He arrived in Nashville yesterday, was interviewed in regard to his intentions in 1911. Mr. Sims stated that he was considering making the senatorial race, as many of his friends suggested that he become a candidate, but that before he decided whether he make the race or not he desired to ascertain the extent of the demand.

The United States army is no longer a catch-all for the scum of the nation. Recruiting officers are not looking for degenerates and outlaws. A man must come up to certain physical, moral and mental requirements nowadays to enlist. It, perhaps, surprised many people when they read in The Evening Sun yesterday that the recruiting sergeant makes inquiries about applicants for enlistment, and rejects those, who are unfit for the service.

PADUCAH'S STREETS.

Those who ride much about Paducah appreciate the deplorable condition in which the present board of public works found the city streets, and the rapidly with which the board is getting the best of the weeds in the gutters, and is grading and filling the streets. It is also a noticeable fact that the present street department is using the city street roller, which had been laid away after being purchased at great expense, and is pulling the boulders out of the highways, grading them, laying crushed rock and gravel and wetting and rolling the dressing.

All is not done yet, that the board and street department intend to do. It cannot all be done at once; but we have visible evidence that they are busy and accomplishing desired results.

Those, who ride on street cars can see the improved condition of the gutters. Those who have seen the improvement of the levee, once a dirty mudhole, covered with debris, now the prettiest and most substantial levee between Louisville and New Orleans, can testify to something in behalf of the department. Those, who have known Broadway beyond Eleventh street as a mud-hole, full of ruts and projecting bits of slag, on which hundreds of loads of mud and sand were dumped, only to be ground away, can say the street department has graded and graveled, sprinkled and rolled the roadbed repeatedly.

We could search the highways and byways of any city in the land and find here and there a place that needs improvement. Usually those places are not reported to the department. When they are in Paducah the department attends to them as promptly as the force on duty permits.

STATE PRESS.

The T. C. Runner.

Hopkinsville business men and citizens generally are deeply interested in the railroad rumors that are being circulated. If the extension of the Tennessee Central is made and the line connects either with the Frisco or Burlington systems, the increased shipping facilities thus brought to the city would be of incalculable worth. If the move is merely for the purpose of forcing the Illinois Central to take some action with reference to taking over the road, as some believe, this move would be of benefit, if consummated. It is understood that the Illinois Central recently began planning for the remodeling of their present depot and for some unaccountable reason a halt was called on the work. In view of the many stories afloat, even this has its bearing to indicate that the Illinois Central is not asleep and is watching developments.

The Tennessee sees in the new movement a renewal of the Ill-Harriman fight. That paper says:

"While E. H. Harriman is making the fight of his life regarding the shattered strength which has enabled him to win countless laurels in the forum of finance, James J. Hill, his nemesis looking toward the southeast, has welded the connection which will open an altogether new avenue to traffic from the Atlantic seaboard to Puget Sound.

"This great artery will descend via Nashville, through the Tennessee Central, and will afford untold benefits to the grain dealers of this city. Yesterday's Tennesseean related the fact of the Tennessee Central's shooting an arm from Hopkinsville to Paducah, and printed the various opinions which have been held by prominent men and observers of such matters. But yesterday the rumors took concrete form when George A. Clark, general manager of the Tennessee Central, admitted that the Hopkinsville-Paducah line will be constructed. Another statement that puts the seal of finality on the matter is that the Burlington route, Illinois big pipe line in the Mississippi valley, creeping down from Herra, Ill., to Metropolis, Ill., just across the Ohio river from Paducah, Ill., could not have any other object than that of meeting the Tennessee Central at Paducah for all other lines there are controlled by forces inimicable to him.

"To the outside world this means a great shortening of distances diagonally across the United States. To Nashville, to Tennessee and to Kentucky it means that there will be an unwanted quickening of business and a lively scramble on the part of freight agents for shipments. Above all, it will eventually result in 'revelation downward' in the railroad tariffs of that territory.

"But to James J. Hill and the sick man of Arden it means only another crisis in the ceaseless battle that has long raged between the two railroad kings. Hill, the man with an imagination, has long been an enemy of Harriman, the strong-arm genius Hill has sought his ends through the points of least resistance, and has generally gotten there. Harriman has been just the opposite and stands without parallel in annals of American commerce as the human bulldog the man who broke down everything that stood in his path and rode triumphant to his goal amid the plaudits of the nation."

The Nashville American, which was badly "scooped" by both the Tennessee and the Banner on the T. C. extension, says it is all a "newspaper dream." Editorially the American remarks:

"Col. James J. Hill says that there is nothing in the story, locally printed yesterday, about his lines seeking connection through the south. Of course, Col. Hill may not know as much about it as the newspaper boys; but most folks will give his statements more credence than they will those of the newspaper men.

"For ourselves, we should like to see the empire builder of the north-west turn his eyes and his locomotives southward. His great rival, Mr. E. H. Harriman, has come into the south to the south's profit, and why not Col. Hill? There are golden opportunities south of the Mason and Dix line. All they need is for men like Hill and Harriman to take advantage of them. The field is not

Many interesting documents and exhibits have been unearthed in removing the papers and records from the vault of the circuit clerk's office while the new steel files are being installed. Some of the papers are covered with dust, and have become yellow with age, but the writing is still legible. The earliest records are dated 1825, as McCracken was made a county in December, 1824, and the first circuit court was held the following January. There are a number of pictures and a few exhibits that have been kept on file so long that the present officials do not remember the cases in which they were used. The present vault was constructed about ten years ago, but was not equipped in a modern manner. Attorneys Clay & Clay removed the records, and will index and replace the papers.

"Wonder," the pet of the fire lads of the Central fire station, is insanely jealous over the appearance of a young wolf at the fire house. Heretofore "Wonder" has received all of the petting around the station, and besides having the undivided attention of the firemen, has shared their delicacies with them. Mr. D. R. Ogilvie arrived from Oklahoma several days ago, and he brought a young wolf with him. It was presented to Fireman Leslie Ogilvie, and has been given a home with the fire horses. The wolf was wild, and was kept chained. By patient efforts the firemen have succeeded in taming the wolf, and their devotion to the stranger has made "Wonder" angry.

Rush For Entrance Cards.

Calls for permits to work are made steadily by children, although Superintendent Carnagey expects a larger attendance at next session than last year owing to the fact that the child labor law will be enforced more strictly. Application blanks have been printed, and when a child applies a blank is handed to him. The child must be able to read the questions before he can answer them, and a problem in long division is required. In this way Superintendent Carnagey saves much time, and gets a general idea of the education of the child, as a written examination is required before a permit can be issued.

Pare of Children Raised.

School children over 12 years of age will be required to pay more than half fare this year, according to rates fixed by the Paducah Traction company. Those 12 and under can obtain 10 tickets for 25 cents, which is the regular half fare rate in vogue. Realizing that the returns in the sale of tickets to children over 12 years are not satisfactory the price has been increased five cents, 10 tickets being given for 30 cents. These rates apply, not only to children of the public schools, but also to St. Mary's academy and private institutions. All children attending school must obtain identification cards from their teacher or principal, presenting it when they purchase tickets at the reduced rates. As 25 cents is the regular half fare for all children under 12 years the company figures that it will not be objectionable for the slight increase.

WHEN ARCTIC REGION WAS THE LAND OF THULE.

Known Story of Explorations is a Recital of Dire Adventure and Tragedies.

The known records of arctic explorations run back 1,000 years—a story of adventure and many tragedies—to the time when the Irish monk, Dicuil, with a number of his clerical brothers, sailed as far north as Iceland and found, as the writings of Dicuil state, that there was no darkness in Iceland during the summer solstice.

But long before the ninth century the ancients according to Ptolemy, had a legendary knowledge of a far northern island, known as Thule. And in the first book of his translation of Orosius, King Alfred told of the first voyage for discovery made by Other and Wulfstan. While the localities mentioned cannot now be located, it is probable that Other rounded North Cape and visited the coast of Lapland.

From the time of the monk Dicuil to the earliest record of the arctic invasion by the Norsemen, there is a lapse of 400 years, and from then on the history of polar explorations comes down by centuries until the middle of the sixteenth century, after which the expeditions were so numerous and so closely related to the material progress of the nations of the earth that a fair record of them has been kept.

Carved Stones Far North.
The fact that the Norsemen in the thirteenth century colonized a part of Iceland and Greenland, and that at one time their explorers reached a latitude of 75 degrees, is known by inscriptions in stone that were discovered by other explorers hundreds of years later. One of these inscriptions was found in latitude 73 degrees north, and it indicated that it had been left there in the year 1235. Another inscription contained the record of a party of bold spirits who had penetrated as far as 75 degrees and 40 minutes north latitude in 1266.

The fourteenth century was marked by a voyage by Ivar Bardson, the Norwegian. He was steward to the bishop of Gardar and was sent to Greenland in 1349 to relieve the colony that had been forgotten during the two years of the "black plague," which broke out in Norway in 1347. Bardson compiled sailing directions from the oldest work of arctic geography.

Two hundred years after Bardson there began a general rush for the north upon the part of the English, the Dutch and the Norwegians, and since that time, nearly 400 years ago, there has been no cessation of northern exploration.

Hunt Northwest Passage.
In 1517 Sebastian Cabot was commissioned by Henry VIII to search for a northwest passage around America to India, and from that time onward the discovery of such a passage became a favorite project with explorers.

In 1553 Sir Hugh Willoughby and Richard Chancellor sailed northward, heading an expedition promoted by Sebastian Cabot "for the search and discovery of the northern parts of the world, to open a way and a passage to our men for travel to new and unknown kingdoms." The quest for the northwest passage was in vain. Willoughby discovered Nova Zembla by sighting the coast of Goose Island and resolved to winter in a harbor off Lapland, where he perished with all his crew from exposure and starvation. Chancellor reached the Bay of St. Nicholas and landed near Archangel, Russia, whence he proceeded to Moscow. His mission gave arctic exploration a fresh impetus.

Seeks Gold in Arctic Land.
In 1556 Stephen Burrough was the next arctic explorer. He sailed in the Searchlight and discovered the strait leading into the Kara Sea. In 1580 the Association of Merchant Adventurers, of which Cabot was governor, sent out an expedition under Arthur Pot and Charles Jackma. Pro-bisher undertook the next expedition in search of the northwest passage in 1576, with two vessels, the Gabriel and the Michael. He took back to England mineral specimens which were thought to contain gold, and much excitement was stirred that in the next two years more than fifteen vessels were fitted out for arctic exploration.

In 1585 John Davis undertook a voyage north, and in 1587 succeeded in reaching latitude 72 degrees 41 minutes.

The Dutch in 1594 fitted out an expedition under William Barents to sail in search of the northwest passage. Barents made three voyages. He discovered Bear Island and sighted the northwestern extremity of Spitzbergen. Barents penetrated to latitude 77 degrees 20 minutes.

On his last voyage Barents accompanied Ryp Heemskerck as pilot, and the expedition got beyond the seventy-ninth parallel. On this last voyage Barents died, as they led to the flourishing whale and seal industries that for a long time enriched the Netherlands.

An English company fitted out an expedition under Captain Weymouth in 1602. It made no new discoveries, but encountered no mishaps.

Five years later, 1607, Henry Hudson, for the Muscovy company, reached the highest latitude to that time, 80 degrees, 23 minutes. He made two subsequent voyages, which led to the Spitzbergen whale fisheries, and, exploring the North American coast, he discovered the Hudson river and Hudson Strait.

From this time to 1806 numerous voyages were undertaken for purposes of discovery and commerce. In 1725 Captain Vitus Bering, a Dane, who was appointed by Peter the Great to head an expedition, while exploring the island which now bears his name, died with his crew of scurvy. In 1806 Captain William Scoresby made a new mark by pushing his ship Resolution to latitude 81 degrees and 30 minutes north.

In 1815 polar exploration found a promoter in Sir John Barrow, who offered a reward of £20,000 sterling to anyone making the northwest passage, and £5,000 for reaching 89 degrees north latitude, which would be 69 miles south of the pole.

After Barrow Prize.
Two years later, in 1817, two expeditions set out, one by way of Spitzbergen, the other by Baffin's Bay. The Dorothea and the Trent, on the Spitzbergen route, were commanded by Captain David Buchan and Lieutenant John Franklin. The other expedition was in charge of Captain John Ross and Lieutenant Edward Parry. Neither expedition was a success. In 1827 Parry on his third voyage made his historic dash for the pole from Spitzbergen by sledge boats and reached latitude 82 degrees and 42 minutes.

In 1845 Sir John Franklin made his tragic voyage. His ships, the Erebus and the Terror, were seen by a whaler in July, 1845, and that was the last trace. For three years the British admiralty, spurred on by Lady Franklin, sent out relief expeditions, but the only reward of the searchers was the discovery of the gruesome relics of a frightful tragedy. One vessel had been crushed in the ice, the other had been stranded on the shore of King William's Island. Three waters in the north had reduced the explorers to skeletons, and they had fallen one by one by the way in an effort to drag their sledges over the ice to a land camp.

In 1851 Sir Robert MacClure penetrated as far north as Melville Sound and there discovered a passage from the Atlantic to the Pacific, which he named the Prince of Wales Strait. It was achieved by ship and sledge and not by ship alone.

In 1864 Nordenskiöld and Duner, Swedes, reached latitude 81 degrees and 42 minutes, and in 1874 Lieutenant Payer and a naval officer named Weyprecht, with the backing of the Austro-Hungarian government, attained latitude 82 degrees and 5 minutes. On the return they had to leave their ships and made the retreat in sledges, and after suffering untold hardships were picked up in September, 1874, by a Russian schooner.

Manners.
John R. Drexel, at a dinner in Newport, said of good manners: "The flatterer of good manners are the best, the Frenchman thinks his are, the cowboy thinks his are, even the sailor—but listen: I once attended a reception on a man-of-war. A distinguished statesman, visiting this man-of-war, dispensed with the usual formal salute. I heard a sailor near me say: "Who's the blubber who don't tip his skyrockets to the skipper?" "Choke your luff," returned another sailor. "That's Senator Dash, the famous tariff leader." "Well," growled the first sailor, "why ain't he got manners enough to salute the quarter-deck?" "Manners!" a third sailor chipped in, "what does he know about manners? I don't suppose he was ever out of sight of land in his life."

A WHEAT-MEAT
That sounds strange. But it's true. It refers to Faust Brand Spaghetti, the great American wheat food that has won thousands from the meat habit and added a staple article of food to the vegetarian fare. A Wheat-Meat! Think of it! Imagine if you can a food as nourishing as meat—that requires less energy to digest—that is not heating—that never becomes tainted—that is so clean, so cheap and so adaptable for everyday cooking as to be beyond compare. Such a food is Faust Brand Spaghetti. Serve it a new way every day—for dinner or supper. There'll be no regrets. Keep it always in the kitchen for a ready answer to that old question, "What to Cook." Faust Spaghetti is sold by all grocers in five and ten cent packages—sealed. Book of twenty-three recipes sent free on request.

PRESIDENT MAY VISIT ALASKA

SOME TIME NEXT SUMMER—HILL GOVERNOR GOOD HIVE.

Never Sent Word to St. Paul Pioneer Press Approving Plan of His Meeting Congressmen.

PLAT DENIAL IS MADE BY HIM

Beverly, Mass., Sept. 3.—Taft, in blinding good bye to Walter Ely Clark, who becomes governor of Alaska on October 1, announced that he will probably visit Alaska next summer.

Neither the president nor Secretary Knox would discuss the reported discovery of the north pole. When the secretary was asked what the state department would do with the pole, he laughingly replied, "Annex it, of course." Tomorrow the president will witness the summer classes from the yacht Sylph.

The following was given out this afternoon:

"Taft was informed that a telegram was published in the St. Paul Pioneer Press and Dispatch of the following tenor:

"I assure you of my complete sympathy with the plan to honor the Minnesota congressional delegation by a public ratification meeting." (Signed) "William Howard Taft."

The president said that no such telegram was sent by him to the Pioneer Press or anybody else.

Representative Tawney, chairman of the house committee on appropriations, supported the president in his fight for tariff reduction through-out, voted against the remainder of the Minnesota delegation in favor of free-trade. During the trip west the president will stop at one evening at Tawney's home town, Winona, and it has been reported that he would take occasion to commend Tawney, although there has been no confirmation of this intention.

AT THE NORTH POLE

discovered will be found to be an extension of Greenland. If so, they belong to Denmark.

Professor Bauer Talks.
Winthrop, Minn., Sept. 3.—"I believe Cook reached the north pole," said Prof. Louis A. Bauer, of the Carnegie Institute, Washington. Bauer said that Cook dined with him at Washington in May, 1907. Bauer added:

"Cook was profoundly impressed with the possibility of this achievement. It will unquestionably be attended by the most valuable results to science. Cook is a practical geologist, and in addition to his general scientific knowledge, has made an almost lifelong study of the northern and southern lights."

Planning Great Ovation.

New York, Sept. 3.—Preparations are afoot to make the homecoming of Cook an event of national and possibly international importance. The Arctic club is planning an ovation in which Cook's former rivals will gather to pay a personal tribute to his achievement.

Among the most notable to be present probably will be Lieutenant Shackleton, the Englishman, who succeeded in pushing nearest the south pole. The members of the club hope that Taft will be present.

Among the notables expected to participate are the Duke of Abruzzi, Nansen, Amundsen, General Greely, Admiral Melville and Anthony Fiala.

Have Faith in Cook.
Copenhagen, Sept. 3.—Danish polar experts accept Cook's message, announcing his success as conclusive. Commodore Hovgaard said:

"I believe the message is true, because Cook is most trustworthy and opposed to all exaggeration."

An official of the Greenland administration, who was associated with Cook in Greenland, said: "When Cook says he reached the pole there is no doubt about it."

A committee under the presidency of the minister of commerce is arranging a reception on the explorer's arrival. American Minister Egan will be aboard a steamer sent out by the Royal Geographical society to meet Cook. The government last night dispatched the torpedo boat Jylland to meet Cook.

Story of His Trip.
In an interview in the Shetland Islands, Dr. Cook said in part:

Observations on April 8 placed our camp at latitude 86 degrees 36 seconds, longitude 94 degrees 2 seconds.

In spite of what seemed like long marches we had advanced but a little more than 100 miles in nine days.

Much of our hard work was lost in circuitous twists around troublesome pressure lines and high, irregular fields of very old ice.

The drift, too, was driving eastward with sufficient force to give some anxiety, though we were still equal to about 15 miles daily.

The extended marches and the

MADE WELL AND STRONG

By Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Bardonia, Ky.—"I suffered from ulceration and other female troubles for a long time. Doctors had failed to help me. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound was recommended, and I decided to try it. It cured my trouble and made me well and strong, so that I can do all my own work." Mrs. J. E. HALL, Bardonia, Ky.

Another Woman Cured.
Christiana, Tenn.—"I suffered from the worst form of female trouble so that at times I thought I could not live, and my nerves were in a dreadful condition. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound cured me, and made me feel like a different woman. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is worth its weight in gold to suffering women." Mrs. MARY WOOD, R.F.D. 3.

If you belong to that countless army of women who suffer from some form of female trouble, don't hesitate to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs. For thirty years this famous remedy has been the standard for all forms of female trouble, and has cured thousands of women who have been troubled with such ailments as displacements, fibroids, tumors, ulceration, inflammation, irregularities, backache, and nervous prostration.

If you want special advice write for it to Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass. It is free and always helpful.

long hours of travel with which fortune had favored us earlier were no longer possible.

We were now about 200 miles from the pole and the sled loads were reduced. The dog after another had gone into the stomach of his survivors until the teams were considerably reduced, but there seemed to remain a sufficient balance of man and brute to push along into the heart of the mystery to which we had set our eyes.

Beyond the eighty-sixth parallel the ice fields became more extensive and heavier, the crevices fewer and less troublesome, with little or no crushed ice thrown up as barriers.

From the eighty-seventh to the eighty-eighth, much to our surprise, was the indication of land ice.

For two days we traveled over ice which resembled a glacial surface. The usual sea ice lines of demarcation were absent and there were no hummocks or deep crevices. There was, however, no perceptible elevation and no positive sign of land or sea.

Observations on the 14th gave latitude 88 degrees 21 minutes and longitude 95 degrees 52 minutes.

100 Miles From Pole.
We were now less than 100 miles from the pole. The pack was here more active, but the temperature remained below 40, venturing together quickly the narrow spaces of open water so rapidly that little delay was caused in crossing from one field to another.

The time had now arrived to muster energy for the last series of efforts.

In the enforced effort every human strand was strained, and in camping time there was no longer sufficient energy to erect a snow shelter, though the temperature was still very low.

The silk tent was pressed into service and the change proved agreeable. It encouraged a more careful scrutiny of the strange world into which fate had pressed us.

Signs of land were still seen every day, but they were deceptive illusions or a mere flight of fancy. It seemed that something must cross the horizon to mark the important area into which we were pushing.

When the sun was low the eye ran over the moving plains of color to dancing horizons. The mirage turned things topsy turvy. Inverted mountains and queer objects rose and fell in shrouds of mystery, but all of this was due to the atmospheric magic of the mid night sun.

Slowly but surely we neared the turning point. The astronomical observations were duly procured to fix the advancing stages. The ice steadily improved, but still there was a depressing monotony of scene and life had no pleasures, no spiritual recreation, nothing to relieve the steady physical drag of chronic fatigue.

But there came an end to this, a to all things. On April 21 the first corrected altitude of the sun gave 88 degrees, 59 minutes, 46 seconds.

The pole, therefore, was in sight. We advanced the fourteen seconds, and made supplementary observations and prepared to stay long enough to permit a double round of observations.

Etahskook and Asweelub were told that we had reached the "Nail Nail," and they sought to celebrate by an advance of savage joys.

Pierced Moral Center.

At last we had pierced the frozen center and the flag had been raised to the coveted breezes of the north pole.

The day was April 21, 1908. The sun indicated local noon, but this was a negative problem, for here all meridians meet. With a step it was possible to go from one part of the globe to the opposite side.

From the hour of midnight to that of midday the latitude was between the temperature 38 and the barometer 29.83.

North, east and west had vanished. It was south in every direction, but the compass pointing to the magnetic pole was as useful as ever.

Though overjoyed with the success of the conquest, our spirits began to descend on the following day after all the observations had been taken with a careful study of the local conditions, a sense of intense loneliness came with the further scrutiny of the horizon.

What a cheerless spot to have aroused the ambition of man for so many ages.

Only Life in Dead World.

An endless field of purple snows. No life. No land. No spot to relieve the monotony of frost. We were the only pulsating creature in a dead world of ice.

Only Life in Dead World.

An endless field of purple snows. No life. No land. No spot to relieve the monotony of frost. We were the only pulsating creature in a dead world of ice.

We turned our backs to the pole on April 23 and began the long return march. Counting on a continued easterly drift, the course was forced further west.

With fair weather, food and the inspiration of the home-run, long distances were at first quickly covered.

Below the eighty-seventh parallel the character of the ice changed very much, and it became evident that the season was advancing rapidly.

With a good deal of anxiety we watched the daily reduction of the food supply.

It now became evident that the crucial stage of the campaign was to be transferred from the taking of the pole to a final battle for life against famine and frost.

The clear blue of the skies changed to a steady, dismal gray. Several days of deep despair followed each other in rapid succession.

There were some violent gales, but usually the wind did not rise to the full force of a storm.

Starvation Imminent.
With starvation as the alternative we could not wait for better weather.

Some advance was made nearly every day, but the cost of the desperate effort pressed life to the verge of extinction.

On May 24 the sky cleared long enough to give us a set of observations.

We had reached the eighty-fourth parallel near the ninety-seventh meridian. The ice was much broken and drifted eastward, leaving many open spaces of water.

There remained on our sleds scarcely enough food to reach our caches on Nansen Sound, unless we averaged fifteen miles daily. With the disrupted "halack" and reduced strength we were hardly equal to ten miles daily.

Trying to make the best of our hard lot, a straight course was set for the musk ox lands of the inner crossing.

At the eighty-third parallel we found ourselves to the west of a large track, extending southward. The ice changed to small fields. The temperature rose to zero and a persistent mist obscured the heavens.

Situation Desperate.
The events of the following day were pressed into desperate action.

With a few lines on paper to register the life of suffering, the food for man and dog was reduced to a three-quarter ration, while the difficulties of ice travel rose to unbearable heights.

At the end of a struggle of twenty days through thick fog and sky cleared and we found ourselves far down in Crown Prince Gustav sea, with open water and impossible small ice as a barrier, between us and Helberg Island.

Babies Defy Heat—Remedy FREE.

The summer is a very trying time for children. The child that is not robust becomes weaker still from the scorching heat, while the full blooded baby breaks out with sores and pimples because its blood is overheated. Then it also has to contend with the germs in food, water and fruit—the annual summer dangers. If your child has any of the troubles due to summer weather, such as eruptions, itchy skin, worms, diarrhea, "summer complaint," etc., give it a dose of DR. CALDWELL'S SYRUP PEPIN tonight before putting it to bed. When the remedy acts, for it is a wonderful vegetable compound and in the opinion of thousands of mothers the best laxative tonic to be had, the child will quickly recover from its ailment. It will eat better and sleep better; it will want to play and not act peevish. Salts and purgative waters, tablets and pills are too violent for children. DR. CALDWELL'S SYRUP PEPIN is not only pleasant to the taste, but it acts gently and without griping. A single bottle has often saved an entire family from serious sickness, for the basis of health is regular bowel movement and good digestion. A bottle of this remarkable cure can be had of any druggist at 50 cents or $1. Thousands of families are never without it.

In the next few days bears came long. The empty stomachs were fed and the horizon, for a time, was cleared of trouble.

With the return to Annotok rendered difficult by the unfortunate easterly drift, we now sought to allow the ice movement south to Annotok sound, where we hoped to catch a Scottish whaler.

Early in July farther southward progress became impossible, and in need of food we crossed the Fifth Ice River into Jones sound.

The dogs were here given the freedom of their wolf propensities, and by falling boat and sled we tried to reach Haffin's bay, with but an occasional bird to cut out a long line of misfortune, we pushed eastward until the frost of early September stopped progress.

With neither food, fuel nor ammunition, we were forced to wait winter supplies from what seemed at first like a lifeless desert.

Promised by hunger, new implements were shaped and Cape Spado was picked as a likely place to find life.

Game was located with the bow and arrow, the line, the lance and the knife. The musk ox, bear and walrus yielded meat skins and fat. An underground den was prepared, and in it we remained until summer of 1909.

Prepared New Equipment.
On Feb. 13 the start was made for Annotok. With a newly prepared equipment the Greenland shores were reached on April 15. Here we were greeted by Linny Whitney and an anxious group of Eskimo friends.

To facilitate an early return I moved southward to the Danish settlement and reached L'Annotok on May 21, 1909.

TREASURY CLERK ON ANXIOUS SEAT

SECRETARY MACVEAGH LOOK-ING FOR THE REST.

Washington Health Department Seeking to Check Typhoid at Summer Resorts.

IS EXAMINING THE WATERS

Washington, Sept. 3. (United Press.)—These are anxious days for the clerks and bureau chiefs who labor for Uncle Sam in the treasury department. Not only is the tariff law and all its ramifications causing no end of trouble and worry, but Secretary MacVeagh is poking an inquisive nose around smelling out the deceitful spots in the present red-tape enslaved system of business there.

A sort of "Polly Pry" committee of three business men are digging into affairs there, under the secretary's orders. MacVeagh himself recently caused a tremendous sensation by ordering sent to every employee a so-called "efficiency card," whereon the clerk was directed to answer a list of questions regarding himself and his work. Some of the clerks thought they were thus granted a chance to air opinions as to their bureau chiefs, and wrote down some pretty hot criticisms. It is understood. They were somewhat taken back later, when the cards of all employees were returned to their respective chiefs for reading and consideration.

On top of this, the "Polly Pry" committee has just requested every bureau chief to prepare a diagram showing exactly what other bureaus he does business with, and depicting the course followed in disposing of certain matters, naming the number of persons who handle them, how long it takes, etc.

Secretary MacVeagh has believed ever since he succeeded Cortelyou as custodian of the government's money that the department ought to be run more like a modern business institution. He has decided aversions to red tape. When he ran a big wholesale grocery store in Chicago years ago, things went with a snap.

Now he wants to inject some up-to-date business acumen into the conduct of the department.

STEEL TRUST TO BUILD CARS

WOULD PUT PRESSED STEEL CO.
OUT OF BUSINESS.

Two Big Corporations Threatened by Competition From the Octopus —Market Kept Open.

COMPANY TO HAVE NEW PLANT

Pittsburgh, Sept. 3.—The story became current in banking circles today that the United States Steel company has, through the Carnegie Steel company at Pittsburgh, made an offer to purchase the controlling interest in the Pressed Steel Car company at McKees Rocks, where a strike has been raging for many weeks.

If the offer made does not meet with the approval of the Pressed Steel Car stockholders the corporation will go into the business of making cars itself, carrying war not only to the Pressed Steel Car company but to the Standard Steel Car company as well.

The ten-year contract made by Andrew Carnegie with the Pressed Steel Car company for that company to buy all its plates and material from the Carnegie was made under threat of Carnegie's to build a car-making plant. This contract, which was assumed by the corporation when it was formed, expired last February and has not been renewed. In the ten years the car builders took from the Carnegie company $129,000,000 worth of material, or $12,000,000 worth per year. Recently the Pressed Steel Car company has been buying in the open market, and this has made trouble.

The Standard Steel Car company, controlled by the Mellon interests at Pittsburgh, has broken away from the corporation, too, and is buying its steel plates in the open market while building a steel mill of its own. This makes it almost imperative on the part of the corporation to either buy a car making plant for its plates or build a plant of its own.

The Carnegie have ground near the Pressed Steel Car plant on which it is proposed to erect a plate mill, so that the freight rates may be lessened in the making of cars. The capacity of the Pressed Steel Car company is 125 cars a day, but it has never been tested, 75 cars in one day being the record of the plant to date.

If the deal now on goes through the plant will be run at its full capacity. It is understood most of the stockholders of Pressed Steel Car company are willing to sell to the corporation.

The lowest stage for the year was marked by the government gauge at four feet and eight-tenths this morning at 7 o'clock. This is a fall of half a foot since yesterday. The rain, however, is encouraging and a slight rise is expected.

ARRIVALS—City of Sallito from St. Louis at 7 a. m.; George Cowling from Metropolis at 9 a. m. and 3 p. m.; Dick Fowler from Calro at 8:30 o'clock tonight; Ohio from Golconda at 10 a. m.; Chattanooga from Evansville at 10 o'clock last night; Joe Fowler from Evansville this morning; towboat Concrete from Tennessee river last night; Kentucky from River at 4 p. m. yesterday; Reaper and her empties from Memphis today.

DEPARTURES—City of Sallito for Tennessee river at 8:30 o'clock this morning; George Cowling for Metropolis at 11 a. m. and 4:30 p. m.; Dick Fowler for Calro at 8 a. m.; Ohio for Golconda at 2 p. m.; Chattanooga for Evansville at midnight; Concrete for Joppa last night; Kentucky for Metropolis yesterday afternoon to unload.

A steel wharftboat is being built for the Lee Line steamers at the Howard shipyards, Jeffersonville, Ind., and will be sent to Memphis upon completion. Its dimensions are 50x300 feet.

Capt. Dennis Smith, who has been visiting in St. Louis for several weeks returned home this morning on the City of Sallito.

Well filled with freight and carrying over 100 round trip passengers the City of Sallito arrived at 7 a. m. from St. Louis. The Tennessee is at a beautiful stage and advance booking for the boat indicates that the fall excursionists are departing a little earlier than usual. There are about six feet in the Tennessee river and the rain this morning brought encouragement to her captain, who said things had become a little apprehensive over the rapid fall of the river. However, no trouble in making her trip is anticipated. James Burnett, Jr., for several years past one of the pilots of the Bowling Green, is now on the City of Sallito learning the Mississippi, Ohio and Tennessee rivers between St. Louis and Florence. Jim is a good handler and it is believed he will make a good pilot in the Tennessee river trade.

Despite the fact that the river continues to fall, the local packets are experiencing little difficulty. There is still a good boating stage, but if the river falls lower the bad spots will begin to show. The rain will probably add a little water around here, but the low stage today forced commanders and pilots to look somewhat uneasy.

The Chattanooga had a good trip, although she was several hours tardy yesterday from Evansville. She will be Saturday's packet.

The Egan is not around at the Sisters Island, as reported, and is headed for Paducah with her tow. A report current in Paducah that a deal was proposed to take over the Ryan line of boats at Nashville is without foundation, according to M. Hunter Perry, secretary and treasurer of the Ryan line. Capt. George Doubleday, general manager of the line, is in Paducah looking after repairs to the J. B. Richardson and the Reuben Dunbar. It is always customary for the Ryan line to charter out its boats for the Ohio packet trade in low stage of water. The boats belonging to the Ryan line are the J. B. Richardson, the Henry Harley, the Hob Dudley and the Reuben Dunbar. The Dudley is now running in place of the Dunbar in the Cumberland river trade.

The St. Louis Republic of Tuesday says: "The custody of the steamer Belle of Calhoun was surrendered yesterday to United States Marshal William L. Morsey on the suit instituted a few days ago by the Joseph F. Wampler Boiler and Sheet Iron works. The United States marshal sent to the river front Thursday to seize the boat, but the steamer started before his arrival. She was turned over yesterday by M. J. Cooney, president of the St. Louis and Northern Steamboat company, and Capt. James Phillips, her commander. The boat was then released on a bond of $1,300, which was signed by H. W. Sebastian and Anthony W. Norris. The suit is set for a hearing in the United States district court on October 1."

Official Forecasts.
The Ohio, from the mouth of the Wabash to Calro, will continue falling during the next 36 hours.
The Wabash, at Mt. Carmel, the Tennessee from Florence to the mouth.

The Mississippi, from below St. Louis to Calro, not much change during the next 36 hours, with generally falling tendencies.

PROFESSOR PAYNE

WILL HAVE TEMPORARY CHARGE OF KENTUCKY NORMAL.

Well Known Educator Will Come to Paducah on His Arrival From Europe.

Prof. E. G. Payne will be acting president of the Eastern Normal school, which is located at Richmond, and following the appointment of a permanent successor to Dr. Roark he will be given another position in the normal school. A permanent president for the school is not expected before January 1, and Professor Payne will handle the reins for several months. He was due to land in New York last Sunday, and as he has written to friends to hold his mail in Paducah it is thought that he will visit in the city before leaving for Richmond.

GOULD'S DREAM REALIZED.

Through Line From the Mississippi to the Coast Established.

St. Louis, Sept. 3.—The dream of Jay Gould for through train service from the Mississippi to Pacific coast points will be realized within a few months, when the Missouri Pacific, in conjunction with the Rio Grande system and the Western Pacific, all of them Gould lines, will operate trains between St. Louis and San Francisco.

The new service will be the first provided over roads under the same ownership and control.

Every mile of the route will be a part of the Gould system, under the personal direction of George J. Gould. The Western Pacific is the western link in the projected transcontinental line of the Goulds. The new route will be via Kansas City and Pueblo, with through service to Denver.

Boat Will Come Off.
New York, Sept. 3.—Despite the rumor that District Attorney Jerome upset the plans for the Ketchikan-Langford fight it is announced that the bout will take place September 17.

COAL! COAL! COAL!

perience of ten years, handling coal from every mine accessible to Paducah, TAYLOR COAL has given the best satisfaction, and, as the consumer is the best judge and the one to please, we have decided to handle no other. Never clinkers; no slate, no slack; burns to a fine white ash and will beat any coal in the world for holding fire all night. We have found it the best, those that tried it found it the best, if you try it you will find it the best, and have no other. Be sure and get our prices before buying.

Now is the time to place your coal order for the winter. And every coal dealer will tell you his is the best. Unlike other dealers, we are not under salary or contract to sell coal from any one coal mine and to tell you it is the best; but an ex-
